EL BOLETÍN

COMING BACK STRONGER...

When difficult situations present themselves you have two options: give up or channel every ounce of your energy to keep yourself pushing through the challenge. We chose the latter. Kush Hospitality, like so many other businesses, faced unprecedented restrictions and temporary closures, but worst of all was having to send our staff home without answers on if we would be bringing them back.

Our goal in this pandemic has been clear – get our people back to work safely and as quickly as possible. But given the opportunity Kush Hospitality came face to face with what we are made of. We are about creativity, good vibes, and inspiration. This propelled us forward with renewed strength and in a new direction.

We have rebranded Spillover to Kush by Spillover and it will be a hybrid of the best both kitchen and bars have to offer under one roof. We felt it was a natural transition to merge these two concepts and forge forward into the future with concepts that are united under the Kush brand of hyper-local comfort food, craft beer, and a next-level bar program.

The new cocktail menu at Kush by Spillover will fill your cup with creative craft cocktails sporting names like 120K and PEACOCKS TEARS showcasing our new 'Dade-in-your-face' feel.

We are opening officially on June 17th, please follow us on social media to stay current on our offerings.

YOUR HEALTH IS OUR TOP PRIORITY

During our closure, we've been working on comprehensive plans to ensure that when this opening date came, we'd be able to welcome guests and team members in the safest way possible. Under the guidance of the CDC, local government and health officials, we've instituted an extensive, multi-point health and sanitation program. Going forward we will institute employee temperature checks, social distancing measures, thorough employee training, enhanced cleaning, and sanitizing protocols are all in place. All of our restaurants are being purified, sanitized, and certified by Bio Safety. Also, our locations are inspected and approved by Brunswick Food Service Educators. We will be instituting new dining-in initiatives as well, and you will be informed of those procedures upon arrival. As always, we appreciate your patience and are truly grateful for your patronage.

WHAT TIME IS IT?

BUCKWHEAT BOYZ PRESENTS PEANUT BUTTER JELLY TIME – THE COCKTAIL!

Kush by Spillover's twist on an old fashioned leaves nothing to be desired. It even comes with a PB&J garnish! Its festive preparation is sure to put you in party mode and provides a snack for you to get as 'extra' as you want. And after such a long stint indoors, it's everything we've needed to dust off these bad vibes. Side note: #sorrynotsorry this song is getting stuck in your head after reading this!

THE RETURN OF THE MOOSE JUICE

If you read the words 'Moose Juice' and don't know what we're talking about, then you're either too young or not from around these parts. Regardless, let us reintroduce you to the drinks that once lead to thousands of questionable decisions, ill-conceived ideas, and late-night munchies—Moose Juice. We won't tell you what's in it but what you do need to know is its got the power to turn your world UP. We'll just leave it at that. Kush by Spillover will serve Moose Juice at our daily happy hour for $5 (what a steal!), and we double-dog-dare-you to order it.

KUSH™ BROWNIES

We're not going to humblebrag about this, we're just gonna come right out and say it. Our special Kush Brownies are the best you'll ever try. We're baking small-batches of melt-in-your-mouth-chocolatey-brownies. And if you're not at all tickled by this news, then you just don't love chocolate and we question your life choices. Just kidding. But not really. Pick up your new favorite Kush Brownie at any of our locations, but limited quantities will be available, so when we are out, we're out.
